WHICH COUPLE IS MARRIED.

A FRAUDULENT LICENSE CAUSING A LOT OF TROUBLE.

DEAF MUTES MIXED UP IN IT.

Rev. John Moore Tied the Knot for a Deaf Mute Couple Giving the Names of a "Speaking" Couple.

William Williams, who keeps a candy store at 1233 South Broadway, and 14-year-old Jessie Gillespie of 215 Benton street were married by proxy.

It has been found that Rev. John M. Moore of 1217 Victor street, pastor of the Marvian Methodist Church, tied the knot.

A couple that could neither speak nor hear took their names, applied for a license in writing, stood up before the minister, made wedding vows in writing and were united.

That marriage binds the deaf mutes, according to the minister and legal authority, though they gave the names of others, and the woman had a living husband.

In some way the marriage certificate signed by the minister came into young Miss Gillespie's possession.

When Rev. John M. Moore was completed recently in the St. Louis Christian Advocate upon performing an unusual marriage ceremony uniting two deaf mutes, neither he nor the writer of the paragraph knew just how exceedingly unusual that wedding was.

They supposed that the deaf mutes were really William Williams and Miss Jessie Gillespie, just as they alleged they were. So the marriage license clerk John Dietering, who issued the license.

Both Williams and Miss Gillespie came and took the license in writing. As told in the Post-Dispatch Tuesday John J. Gill was the first to make known to the license clerk the manner in which he had been deceived. According to Gill's story.

After Stutenbort, a young tailor working at 413 Market street, and a Mrs. Mandeville whose address he did not know, had procured a license. Both the deaf mutes.

Stutenbort and Mrs. Mandeville did this by representing themselves as William Williams and Miss Jessie Gillespie, and that they were given $25 by Williams to do this.

Williams had previously been boarding with Miss Gillespie's parents at 215 Benton street. He had courted the girl. Her parents objected on the ground that she was too young to receive such attentions. Both he and the girl wanted to become united.

Stutenbort and Mrs. Mandeville finally agreed to a compromise by which Williams was to take the license and the parents consented that he should wed the girl in two years.

Shortly after this agreement was made a marriage license was issued to William Williams and Miss Jessie Gillespie. The fact was published at the time on account of the somewhat unusual circumstance that both the applicants for the license were deaf mutes.

The parents of Jessie Gillespie denied that such a license had been issued until the fact was proved, and then declared that some one must have falsely represented the girl. They said they were sure no wedding had taken place.

But a wedding did take place. Mrs. Gillespie found the wedding certificate in the possession of her little daughter a few days ago.

She demanded of her where she got it, and the girl declared that it meant nothing. Williams had paid her $25, and she had indicated, she said, that they were applied for a license or were married.

"It's all a joke," said little Miss Gillespie.

Mrs. Gillespie, who evidently had something to conceal, and declared that she was not trying to protect her daughter in the matter.

"That is just what I want to do," he said, "and the only way is to clear up this mystery."

Mrs. Gillespie said, Wednesday night, that the marriage certificate had been lost and she denied that she had given it to her daughter.

"I saw it," said her husband, "and I remember the name of the minister."

Moore, and I'm going to the bottom of this thing."

A Post-Dispatch man looked up the Rev. Moore, and the minister made this statement of what he knew of the case.

"I married a deaf-mute couple at my home here on the afternoon of Sept. 21, the same day their license was issued. Our conversation was carried on entirely with pencil and paper."

"The minister wrote that their names were William Williams and Jessie Gillespie, both of 1215 Benton street, and that they were over 21 and 18 years of age, respectively. The woman looked considerably older than the young man, who seemed scarcely more than a boy."

"When I asked them why they did not bring some of their friends to witness the marriage, William Williams wrote that he would not and get one. He returned with a young man who introduced himself as J. J. Brown, and I wrote out the wedding vows and they signed them, after which I wrote the declaration making them man and wife."

The minister was amazed when told that his description of the couple did not at all fit with that of the genuine William Williams and Jessie Gillespie and that the latter was only a child.

He was more and more perplexed when told about the part that Peter Stutenbort and Mrs. Mandeville were charged with playing at the license clerk's office.

He was completely astounded when he learned that William Williams and Jessie Gillespie were not deaf mutes and were not in reality the people he wedded and yet Miss Gillespie had obtained the marriage certificate.

Whether Peter Stutenbort and Mrs. Mandeville practiced this fraud either in seriousness or jest, he said, "they were just as solemnly united, in the eyes of God and the law, by me in marriage. It matters not whose names they gave."

The minister said he could imagine what reason there could have been for the deception.

Peter Stutenbort was visited by Marriage License Clerk Dietering Tuesday evening. The license clerk said he felt sure that was the man who had applied for the Williams-Gillespie license.

Stutenbort wrote a flat denial of the charge. Though he had told a reporter in the morning that he knew Mrs. Mandeville, he wrote, in reply to a question from Mr. Dietering that he had often heard of her, but did not know her. He had heard that she had left the city.

According to his story Mrs. Mandeville, who is really a deaf mute, had a husband who died in the City Hospital. His name was Henry D. Gillespie.

Mandeville showed the extraordinary wedding in a book called "The Deaf Mute Marriage" was performed by Rev. Moore, the couple went to their home in Hannibal, Mo., and Mrs. Mandeville said she was going to St. Louis.

The Fall Elections as Pointers.

The State elections in Florida Tuesday and in Georgia Wednesday complete the list of States that hold State elections prior to the Presidential election. So far as these State elections throw any light upon the result in November they may be summarized as follows, placing after each State its electoral vote:

STATES CARRIED BY THE DEMOCRATS.	STATES CARRIED BY THE REPUBLICANS.
Alabama 11	Maine 6
Arkansas 8	Vermont 4
Florida 4
Georgia 13	Total 10
Tennessee 12
Total 48

neighbors who had received money from relatives in Kansas City, and that she was going there on a visit.

William Williams still vigorously denies knowing anything about the marriage by proxy. He says he is still engaged to Miss Gillespie and that the date of the wedding will not be fixed for two years.

The minister's return on the license issued to William Williams and Miss Gillespie was found by License Clerk Dietering at noon Thursday. Those named as witnesses to the ceremony are J. J. Brown and Miss Ella Peterson. Miss Peterson lives at 1217 Victor street and does not know any of those concerned except the minister, who asked her to be present.

You must register if you desire to cast your ballot at the November election. Registration every Presidential year is required by the laws of Missouri. This is the Presidential year. Three days have been set apart for registration—Oct. 6, Oct. 10 and Oct. 13. Registration offices open from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. If you fail to get your name on the lists on one of these days you will lose your Presidential vote.

DU MAURIER DEAD.

He Succumbed to Heart Trouble When He Had Achieved Wealth and Fame.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—George Du Maurier, the artist and novelist, who became famous as the author of "Trilby," died at 2:30 o'clock this morning. His end was painless and he passed away surrounded by friends.

The illness of Mr. Du Maurier was pathetic in the extreme. For days he has been hovering between life and death, at intervals conversing with his friends regarding his work.

Upon one occasion a friend at the dying man's bedside referred to the success of "Trilby" as a book and as a play, whereupon Du Maurier replied: "That is just what I want to do, but the popularity has killed me at last."

One of Du Maurier's friends who was present at his death said: "He died at last."

most as tragically as Svengali. At the zenith of Triby's fame Svengali became a victim of an affection of the heart, and Du Maurier has gone the same way."

At the zenith of his popularity the author has succumbed to the heart trouble from which he always suffered. His suffering was accentuated by the constant succession of exciting incidents in which the closing months of his life were spent. Checks rising in upon him as his old heart trouble increased. This, complicated by an affection of the lungs, took him off.

RUNAWAY MATCH.

A Han'abal Couple Married at Springfield, Ill.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 8.—Charles F. Co and Miss Pearl M. Bol, two young people who are well known in Hannibal, Mo., ran away from their homes here Tuesday and came to this city to be married, because the parents of the young lady objected to her marrying on account of her age, which is 18 years. The groom is 23 years of age and a traveling salesman.

The Rev. R. H. Carles performed the ceremony at his home yesterday afternoon. The couple admitted to him that they had run away. The bride is the daughter of Jacob Bol, who is one of the wealthiest business men in Hannibal. Mr. and Mrs. Co left last night for Hannibal, Mo., where they will seek the parental blessing.

GEORGIA CANCELS MAINE'S VOTE.

THE DEMOCRATS WON BY LARGELY INCREASED MAJORITIES.

ALL COMBINATIONS FAILED.

A Bitter Fight Had Been Made on Atkinson, But He Won Easily.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 8.—The returns from yesterday's election are coming in detached fragments and in unsatisfactory form. The early hours of this morning brought little authentic news, everything being held back to await the official consolidation of the vote. As there are 137 counties in the State and as many of them are remote from railroad and telegraphic communication, the authentic figures will necessarily be delayed.

Thirty-seven counties, leaving 100 to be heard from, yield a gain of 6,133 for the Democrats. At this ratio the State will give Atkinson a majority of 47,832.

A. H. Clay, chairman of the State Executive Committee, says: "Atkinson carried the State by between 3,000 and 40,000 majority. The Populists have not carried twenty counties out of the 147 in the State and they have lost most of the counties they carried in 1894."

The returns point to almost uniform Democratic gains. Wherever there has been a Democratic loss the decrease has been due simply and solely to local reasons. Atkinson's plurality is less than that received by the others on the State ticket, but he will have from 35,000 to 40,000 majority.

The Legislature is overwhelmingly Democratic. The Populists may have four members of the Senate, and the Republicans one. The other thirty-nine will be Democrats. In the House the Populists will have about twenty-five of the 106 members.

Atkinson's majority down from its 25,000 of two years ago. Every possible element antagonistic to Democracy has been arrayed against the State ticket in this fight. The Populists combined with the Prohibitionists and the Farmers' party. The A. P. A. has been fighting Atkinson and the Republican leaders have been using money and influence in the interest of the Populists. The ticket, openly working to keep down the Democratic plurality.

The Journal this afternoon says: "The returns obtained after a hard fought campaign in which the issues were clearly made; those issues were entirely local, and the result was a vote cannot be considered as having any bearing upon the National campaign."

The election demonstrates three things: "1. That the people of Georgia endorse the administration of Gov. Atkinson." "2. That they are opposed to a State prohibition law and want the present local option system maintained." "3. That the negroes of Georgia appreciate the fair treatment which has been given them by the present State administration."

FLORIDA ELECTION.

The Democratic Victory Complete and Gratifying.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 8.—W. A. Rawls, Chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, has given out the following: "Returns incomplete. All indications point to from 30,000 to 35,000 Democratic majority."

Of the sixty-eight members of the House of Representatives, the Democrats have at least sixty, and thirty-two members of the next Senate, including three holdovers, will all be Democrats.

The constitutional amendment abolishing October elections was ratified. From the returns so far received it is estimated to base an estimate as to how the next Legislature will stand for Senator, except that Senator Bixham's plurality for Governor will be from 15,000 to 20,000. The figures show a vote in comparison with 1892. In that year Gov. Mitchell received 33,004 votes and Mr. Bixham, the Populist candidate, 3,506. Mitchell's majority being 29,498.

The vote for W. N. Sheats for Superintendent of Public Instruction falls considerably below that for Bixham for Governor.

KNOCKED DOWN BY A BRUTAL THIEF.

MRS. NORBERT J. VOREL ATTACKED ON THE STREET.

HER HUSBAND WAS WITH HER.

John Morrissey Roughly Handled for Assaulting the Woman He Had Tried to Rob.

Mrs. Norbert J. Vorel was knocked down by a purse snatcher in front of Moser's Hotel on Pine street Wednesday evening.

Mr. Vorel, who is proprietor of the St. Louis Republican Journal and was until recently advertising manager of the St. Louis Tribune, ate supper with his wife at Moser's Hotel Wednesday evening.

After passing out of the dining-room to the street they turned east. John Morrissey, who was leaning against a lamp post, grabbed at Mrs. Vorel's purse. She lifted it high above her head and Morrissey struck her in the face.

She fell to the sidewalk and then rolled into the gutter. Vorel caught Morrissey by the shoulders, drawing him back as he was about to kick the prostrate woman. A dozen men surrounded Morrissey. He was unable to get Mrs. Vorel, but he called her foul name till a man in the crowd gagged him.

The crowd was becoming a mob. Mrs. Vorel was picked up and sent to her home at 228 South Ninth street.

The mob yelled for a rope and Morrissey was carried in the center of it up the wide marble steps of the hotel.

He was hammered and pounded until his face was losing all semblance to humanity, when Patrolmen Killian and Meagher, who were passing on a car, alighted and broke through the mob.

At the points of their revolvers they forced the crowd back and took charge of Morrissey.

A patrol wagon was called and Morrissey was taken to the Central Police Station, where the simple charge of disturbing the peace was placed against him.

Thursday morning Mrs. Vorel was not able to appear in Police Court to prosecute Morrissey and the case was continued until Oct. 16.

FAIR HEIRESSES PROVOKED.

Served With Subpoenas When About to Leave Frisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 8.—Mrs. Herman Oelrichs and Miss Virginia Fair did not leave for New York last evening, as was their intention.

The counsel for Mrs. Craven, who claims to be the contract widow of the late Senator James C. Fair, secured subpoenas requiring Fair's daughters to remain here until Nov. 9, in connection with further hearings of the Fair will contest.

Much to their displeasure, Mrs. Oelrichs and Miss Fair were served with subpoenas as they were leaving the City Hall. Each of the heiresses demanded and received the fee of $2 before acceding to service.

'FRISCO SHOCKED.

The Arrest of Walter Castle and Wife in London Causes a Sensation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 8.—The news of the arrest of Walter M. Castle and his wife in London on the charge of theft was received by merchants and prominent men here almost with horror. Visitors from all over the city flocked to Castle Bros.' store and offered every kind of assistance.

Albert and Arthur Castle received a cablegram from Michael Abraham, an attorney and relative of the Castles, advising them to get all the aid they can from the State Department and to send on proofs of the honesty and integrity of Walter.

The result was that cablegrams were being sent to London all day long. The leading English houses here called their representatives to do everything possible for Walter M. Castle and to secure his release.

Sir William Lane Booker, formerly British Consul at this place and afterward at New York, is now in this city on a visit. He is well acquainted with the Castle family and has known Walter since the latter's boyhood. He sent a long cablegram to London.

The Chamber of Commerce also called United States Minister Bayard in Castle's behalf. The firm of Chalmers, Guthrie & Co., coffee importers of London, called the Castle brothers here that everything possible was being done for Mr. and Mrs. Castle.

BALLAD SINGER WEDS.

William H. Windom Married Miss Joe Clemens of Chicago.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 8.—William H. Windom, the well-known song writer and the ballad singer of Primrose and West's minstrel company was wedded last night to Miss Joe Clemens of Chicago. Many of the minstrel company and a large number of other theatrical persons were present.

You must register if you desire to cast your ballot at the November election. Registration every Presidential year is required by the laws of Missouri. This is the Presidential year. Three days have been set apart for registration—Oct. 6, Oct. 10 and Oct. 13. Registration offices open from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. If you fail to get your name on the lists on one of these days you will lose your Presidential vote.

Mr. Marshall's interpretation of the law will in all probability be reviewed by the Circuit Court when it sits to pass on the applications for the subject of papers for birth. The law on the subject of papers for birth, the Board of Registry shall require the applicant to produce his naturalization certificate, as the case may be, unless the applicant shall make a statement that they are lost or destroyed, and that he is unable to procure certified copies of them, with the reasons why he cannot produce them.

As the law is now interpreted financial inability is not a sufficient reason for not having certificates.

Those voters whose names are stricken off for this reason, or any other he considers unjust, has a remedy under the law.

Section 3 says: "The Circuit Court shall on Friday and Saturday of the week prior to the week in which such election is to be held, specially sit to hear such applications as shall be made to it to be placed upon the register in any particular precinct. Such application shall be sworn to, and the applicant shall be required to place his name on the Board of Registry and the Board of Registrars, as the case may be, one or both Boards refused to place him on such registry, or has stricken his name from the register, he may, at any time, before he is taken to write or telegraph to the places where the men were naturalized in order to get certified copies of their papers before it is too late for registration."

COMMITTEE WILL PAY.

Democrats Too Poor to Get Copies Will Receive Aid.

Chairman Hugh J. Brady of the Democratic City Committee has made arrangements whereby any Democrat unable to pay for his naturalization papers can have them paid for by the City Committee.

All Democrats who cannot pay shall call on the Democratic Committeeman of their Ward. Committeemen will give the applicants notes to Judges Edmunds and Russell, and either will loan the papers. The Democratic City Central Committee will defray all court costs, so that no Democrat need lose his vote because of inability to pay costs of being naturalized.

BIG FIRE AT NEW ATHENS.

Political Meeting Was Broken Up and the Audience Fought the Flames.

The village of New Athens, Ill., thirty miles from St. Louis, on the Illinois Central Railroad, was visited by a conflagration Wednesday evening, which for a time threatened to become general. It broke out in a large vacant mill owned by a Mr. Hill, which was completely destroyed. It was as dry as tinder and burned furiously, consuming the surrounding country for miles.

A Republican meeting was in progress in the town, at which Hon. John B. Hay and F. J. Tecklenburg of Belleville, were the speakers. It was adjourned without ceremony and a bucket brigade formed, which fought the flames with water from the Clark River.

At one time the roof of the big Faber Brewery caught fire and it was only by the hardest kind of work that it was saved. The outbuildings surrounding the brewery, and half a dozen small buildings were destroyed, but by midnight the further progress of the flames had been cut off and they burned themselves out.

The loss is large. Besides the buildings a quantity of grain stored in the mill was destroyed.

The People Versus a Corruption Fund.

Wm. J. Bryan at Wheeling, W. Va.

I have heard since I came into this State that a prominent member of the corporation had boasted that they had $300,000 to spend in this single State to prevent the electoral vote being cast for the Chicago ticket. (Cries of "They won't do it," and applause.) My friends, in times of quiet, in times when people feel no deep interest, money may possibly be expended in such a way as to affect the result of an election, but in times like these, when the people are in earnest, money cannot change the result of an election. (Great applause.) As against a corruption fund; however great, we place the manhood of the voters of the United States. (Applause.) If they are allowed to intimidate the voters then the people in this country are helpless to secure any remedy through legislation, because every time intimidation is successful it encourages them to try intimidation again. (Applause.) Every time corruption is successful it encourages them to try corruption again, and when they win by corrupt means they then enact legislation which secures for them out of the pockets of the people of the country vastly more than they expended in securing the election. (Applause.)

PREPARING A SURPRISE.
More than 80,000 St. Louis voters registered on the first day of registration. The highest total registration heretofore reached in St. Louis was 54,000. A registry of more than 80,000 in one day indicates that, in the two days remaining for registration, the grand total will far exceed 100,000, and reach a figure commensurate with the population of the city and its real voting strength.
For years past St. Louis' vote has been but little more than half of what she was entitled to cast. The city has been exceptional in this respect. It is clear that this year is to mark a new era in the people are aroused as never before.
The problem of how a majority

USE THEM FOR KINDLING.
Scores of citizens are sending to the Post-Dispatch packages of the Hanna campaign literature, which is being left at their doors or sent them through the mails. If the Post-Dispatch had preserved all this Hanna literature, it would have amounted to a small forest. As fast as it came in, however, it has been promptly consigned to the waste basket.
This is the use that should be made of it by the citizens to whom it is sent by the Hanna agents. Like the other trash and litter that accumulates around the house, it can be used for kindling, and this is the use that should be made of it. It is not worth the postage stamp that it costs to send it to the Post-Dispatch.

Those who receive it and are tempted to read it should remember that it is the cost of printing and distributing it is borne in great part by a class which is willing to use about one dollar out of every thousand of its ill-gotten gains in order to fool the voters into continuing a condition of affairs that has piled up those ill-gotten gains in the first place.
This campaign literature is intended to aid in electing McKinley, and if McKinley is elected, the fat-fryers who pay for it will be winning from the people a hundred dollars for each dollar they expend in furnishing the literature.

HANNA IN THE GRAIN PIT.
An advance in the price of wheat during October is almost unprecedented. There is never anything in the situation at that time to justify it. But this year Mark Hanna has a bonfire found to make it possible.

The moneyed interests which have been able to precipitate panics and also to bring on a temporary and fictitious boom in grain prices. By buying all that is offered and millions of options for future delivery an advance in prices can be maintained until after the election. If the advance is maintained it will serve the purpose, and after the election, if gold wins, they can get back their losses by selling "short" on a falling market.
That the farmers understand this game clearly is plainly shown by the great movement of spring wheat toward Chicago. A perfect flood of wheat is pouring into the elevators. The farmers realize that the advance is not permanent, that it is forced and fictitious and that if McKinley is elected, prices will drop to a lower level than before. None of them are holding the crop in expectation of higher prices, although present prices afford no profit. They are the game players. As for the great winter wheat regions in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kansas, Missouri and parts of Iowa and Nebraska,

ILLINOIS AND THE PLUTOCRACY.
The masses of the people in the East are honest, patriotic Americans, as benevolent, as desirous of progress and as anxious to foster it as the people of any other part of this country or of the world.
But during the last generation there has grown up in the East a plutocratic class more un-American than the nobility of England or of Russia. The members of this class are hostile to American institutions and to republican government. They look down on the people of the West and South with undisguised contempt, and they regard the masses in the East itself with badly concealed terror. Hundreds of millions are added every year to the unearned wealth of this plutocracy, and as its wealth increases its fear of the people and of popular government increases.

In New York, in Pennsylvania, in all the principal States of the Northeast it has usurped control of local and State governments, and it uses its power to keep down the people with a high hand of insolent despotism. The visitor to New York City is struck by nothing more than by the castellated and battlemented stone fortresses called armories which the New York plutocracy is building—not on the coast to resist a foreign foe, but in the city itself as rallying places against the people. It spends millions on these fortresses, built in the form of mediaeval castles, but filled with modern cannon, gatling guns, repeating rifles and bayonets—all evidences of the terror the Sages, the Goulds, the Morgans, the Belmonts, the Whitneys and the other hundred-millions of the Wall Street plutocracy have of that Americanism which declares that the people can be trusted.

The influence of this class dominates the New York press. The "corner" of money held by Wall Street and foreign bankers has forced business to an almost exclusively credit basis. Many of the New York papers are heavily mortgaged. Others own heavily mortgaged buildings which are "carried" by Wall Street or London bankers. Others still, if free from mortgage debt, feel that doing a business of hundreds of thousands a year on a not very great margin of profit, the time might come when lack of "accommodation" for ten or twenty thousand dollars for a few weeks at a Wall Street bank might bankrupt them before they could realize on their assets. The same conditions govern in New York business, so that the plutocracy has almost complete control both of business and of politics—though its interests are as radically antagonistic to those of honest business as they are to honest politics.

As a result of such causes, Americanism is at the lowest possible ebb in the politics of the plutocratic States. The masses are denied voice. Reform through them is impossible. If these States are not saved by the intervention of the yet undeveloped American States where the love of republican government and of free democratic institutions is still the dominant force, the plutocracy will force a revolution, and, in an ineffectual attempt to retain the power it has usurped, will fill the gutters of the Eastern cities with the blood of the people.

Who that is familiar with existing conditions in the great Northeastern centers of population can doubt this? Who that knows the ferocity of the plutocracy when its timid capital is frightened, can hesitate to believe that it is even now almost ready to go any length to which the mad audacity of alarmed cowardice inspires it?

Americans are not yet ready to believe that on such an issue their institutions can be seriously endangered by a few thousand men, even though those few thousand now hold more than half the property of this nation of seventy million people. Nor are they ready to believe in the necessity for such an issue. But they must of necessity believe, and it is their duty to see, that unless Americanism is upheld against alien influences and the worse than alien influences of the domestic enemies of constitutional government, the time must come when it will be impossible to save the money lords of the Northeast from the consequences of their own insensate folly.

It is in this situation that the people of Illinois are once more called upon to take the lead in the Union and to make it possible for the masses in the East to restore popular government where it has been taken from them in their local affairs. The people of the Valley States are still devoted to popular government, still believers in liberty, still upholders of the free tradition of manhood rights promulgated in the Declaration of Independence. It is to them that the country must look for reform, that reform may come peacefully and that the plutocracy of fraud may be prevented from attempting to maintain itself by force. And it is to Illinois that the people of the Valley look for leadership. Will it fail them when the issue is one of money against manhood rights, of free government against plutocracy of Wall Street and British domination against American popular sovereignty?

The crop was marketed weeks ago. Few of the farmers were able to hold for higher prices and have sold at a loss. The Hanna game in wheat is a failure and so is the Hanna game in corn, which is now being marketed. But, if McKinley is elected, the fat-fryers who put up the cash to bull the market will make money out of the investment.

The people of Missouri are a God-fearing people. They accept the teachings of Christ. They believe in prayer. They appeal to Divine guidance in the trials and tribulations of life. They do not believe that because a man prays he is crazy. What do they think of a candidate for Governor who declares that W. J. Bryan is crazy and that his father before him was crazy, the proof in the latter case being that he prayed every morning to God that as Judge of the court he might make just and wise decisions? These are the views of Robert E. Lewis, Republican candidate for Governor of Missouri, as declared in his speech at Kirksville, Mo., Oct. 6. Is this the kind of a Governor the Christian people of Missouri want?

Bourke Cockran is not the only emissary of Wall Street who is going round the country orating in the disguise of a Democrat too good for his party. All the orators whose eloquence is for hire have joined the army of Hanna's spellbinders and will make the echoes this month throughout the country. Bourke Cockran simply gets a bigger price than the rest of his fellow-workers for Wall Street.

It is believed that about 5,000 persons in the United States are reading McKinley's speeches. They are the copy editors at the telegraph desks of the newspapers that print them. These copy editors would avoid reading them if they could, although they are paid for it. It is practically certain that no one not paid for it is reading them.

Wm. S. Forman of Illinois should advertise again for "men of grit" to serve as corporation deputies, as he did during the railroad strike of 1893. The corporations need men worse now than they did then. And they are paying more for them, as Forman knows.

If John M. Palmer wants to talk tariff let him tell why the kind of tariff reform he and his friend, Standard Oil Whitney, represent, left a war tariff tax on clothing and established free trade only on such agricultural products as Illinois wool.

Mr. Noonan's expression that the "moneyed interests should run the country" is in no way surprising. It is the sentiment of most of those who will vote for McKinley or, what amounts to the same thing, for the Hessian side show.

It is sad to read in the veracious morning papers of the gold gang that the Democratic majority just announced from Georgia is made up of negro votes.

After Saturday next there will be but one more opportunity to register—Tuesday, Oct. 12. It is best not to wait until

ALEXANDER SALVINI.
The gifted actor has been lying quite ill at the home of his father, at Mount Canini, Italy, with hardening of the stomach and intestines. An incorrect rumor of his death was circulated a day or so ago. His recovery, however, is highly improbable.

MEN OF MARK.
Hi Beung Pak of Corea, who has just entered Roanoke College, Salem, Va., as a student, is said to be bright and intelligent. Another Corean, Surh Beung Kiu, is in the junior class of the same college.
Judge Joseph H. Earle, who is to succeed J. L. M. Ivey as a United States Senator from South Carolina, is a native of that State, is in the fifty-fifth year of his age, and is a man of character and standing.
Dr. W. E. B. Dubois, colored, who was graduated from Harvard College several years ago, and who studied in the German universities, has been appointed to a fellowship in sociology at the University of Pennsylvania.

M. Averof, the Alexandria merchant who gave a million drachmas, $200,000, to have the stadium at Athens put into condition to be used for the Olympic games last spring, has now given 3,000,000 drachmas more to have it completely restored in Penitentiary marble.

In Egypt Lord Cromer is known as "The man with the white hat." He always appears in public wearing a white "topper." In private life he affects blue glasses, not because his eyesight is weak, but because it is difficult to read a man through colored glasses. To be a diplomatist he must be inscrutable.
Herr Kneisel, who has trained so many of the singers at Bayreuth and who was the preceptor of Jean de Reszke, has been advanced Wagnerian roles, is about to visit Paris and London, his immediate object being to rehearse with Mme. Eames the music of Siegfried, which, it seems, she is under contract to play in German, with Jean de Reszke as Siegmund.

WOMEN OF NOTE.
A Bethel (Me.) woman trudged off after a physician for her sick father in the middle of one night, and the next night took a tramp to the station and locked him up.
The Princess of Wales has now held her title over the Post-Dispatch's excellent exceeded by only one of her predecessors, Augusta, the daughter of George II., who was for 35 years Princess of Wales.
Mrs. Beardsley, the mother of the Bishop of Carlisle, England, who died recently at the age of 84, had seven sons, all of whom took holy orders. Her husband, too, was a clergyman. They were intimate friends of Charlotte Bronte.

The Dowager Duchess of Newcastle has taken up her residence in Whitechapel, the poorest and most miserable district of London. There she lives in a house only large enough for herself and two assisting friends—Miss Edmond French and Miss Fortescue—and these three women are devoting their lives to missionary work among the degraded specimens of humanity who live in the neighborhood.

Mrs. Albert Sidney Johnston, whose death in California has just been made known by telegraph, went to the Pacific Coast in 1860 with her husband, who had been made military commander at San Francisco. When the War of the Rebellion began Gen. Johnston came East, entered the Confederate service, and was killed at Shiloh. Mrs. Johnston remained in California, and resided in San Francisco during the war and until 1865, when she removed to Los Angeles.

FANCY'S FREAKS.
Gimcore: You were not in yesterday when I called. I wanted to borrow $10. Givum: Yes, I was. I was in 100-Roxbury Gazette.
Hicks: Speddle always speaks well of everybody. Wicks: Merc force, he does. He worked at cutting tombstone epitaphs for several years.—London (Ont.) Advertiser.
And Then She Wasn't Pleased.—She (proudly): Yes, I made the cake with my own hands. He (most inaptly): Such fair, soft hands! Who would have guessed their strength?—Fuch.

"Wine, women and song have been my ruin," he sighed. "Ah!" But he was not alone in having been driven to drink by the two girls who executed vocal duets in the first floor front.—Detroit Tribune.
Young Lawyer (on his first case): I'd give most anything to win this case, but I don't see how I can possibly clear you. Prisoner (modestly suggestive): I don't s'pose you'd want ter go on de stand an' swear yer committed de crime yerself. Would yer?—Judge.
Fowl Language—Chick: Ma, that hen setting over there has laid seven eggs to-day. She's quite a phenom, isn't she? Old Hen: My son, I wish you would refrain from such vulgar slang. Why do you not call her a phenom hen on't—New York Press.

A Discreet Omission.
From the Kansas City Times.
Gen. Howard while in Kansas City didn't tell how the bottom fell out of the President's Bureau while he was managing it, and lost all the money the poor colored men and women of the South had put into it.

Autumn.
From the Philadelphia Times.
Ere Summer, ardent, lovely, languished by Arch Autumn came a-tipping through the woods.
With red-tips lips she kissed the waiting leaves.
Her yellow hair the wind blew everywhere. The while her bright, brown eyes flashed far around.
Ah, sweetly did she make her presence known.
Till all the world a rich reflection showed.
CARRIE JORDAN.

A RUNNING ARGUMENT.
Giving him a few points!

Less Than Two Months Ago.
From the Cincinnati Enquirer.
Mr. Hanna's solicitude as to the integrity of the dollar, like nearly everything else about the McKinley campaign, is a humbug. Less than two months ago Hanna was trying to dodge the money question and to put McKinley on a protective tariff pedestal. Mr. Hanna is not engaged in the dissemination of principle in this campaign. He is merely a dispenser of dollars.

A Hessian Sham.
From the Peoria Journal.
The action of the "gold" Democrats in getting their list of names by securing the signatures of all the Republicans who were willing to stigmatize themselves in that extent, is on a par with their entire line of campaign.

Ein neues Tarif-Gesetz in den nach-
Ren Jahre Jahren nicht möglich.
Selbst wenn McKinley ge-nügt wird.

Folgender Brief giebt darüber Aufschluss:
Washington, D. C. Sept. 30, '06.
An Herrn William G. Smith,
Louisville, Ky.

Mein werther Herr:
Für Geheutes vom 28. d. Mts. habe ich Ihren Brief erhalten.
Im Bet. Staaten Senat ist eine Majorität der Senatoren zu Gunsten der freien und unbefristeten Prägung von Silber im Verhältniss von 16 zu 1, und 8 oder 10 der Silber-Senatoren haben offen ihre Ansicht erklärt, eine jede Tarif-Bill zu verhindern, wenn derselben nicht ein Gesetz für Freiprägung von Silber angehängt wird.
Diese Silber-Senatoren waren in der letzten Session stark genug, um die Annahme einer Tarif-Bill zu verhindern, und wenn sie in ihrem Vorhaben feilhalten, so können sie auch in Zukunft eine derartige Vorlage unmöglich machen.

Für sehr ergeben
J. O. Carlisle.

Das sollte denjenigen Republikanern, welche in höherem Schutze eine Beförderung der schlechten Geschäftslage erblicken, sehr viel zu denken geben.
Wenn durch die Wahl McKinley's keine Tarif-Veränderung erlangt werden kann, so wird dadurch eben nichts weiter erzielt, als eine Befestigung des Gold-Standards mit unaufhörlichen Bond-Ausgaben, bis der letzte Dollar unserer gegenwärtigen Circulations-Systeme, das ist die unterirdische Schuld der Nation von etwa 1000 Millionen Dollars, aus dem Bereiche gezogen, und nur theilweise durch National-Banknoten ersetzt wird, wofür das Volk 4 Prozent Zinsen zu zahlen hat.

Die Entwertung des Silbers würde dadurch nur verhältnissmässig, und eine weitere Entwertung aller Landes- und Fabrik-Produkte würde wie bisher, mit der Entwertung des Silbers gleichen Schritt halten. Ob die Arbeiter unter solchen Verhältnissen große Ausbeuten auf höhere Löhne und bessere Beschäftigung haben werden, wollen wir einsehen sehr leicht begreifen, jedenfalls sollten die Arbeiter über diesen Punkt sehr reichlich nachdenken. Markt-Handel's Fremdbestände betragen bis zum 3. November, und nach jenem Datum steigt es immer sehr stark zu werden.
Sollte McKinley gewählt werden, so hört die Situation für Freiprägung von Gold und Silber noch keineswegs auf, namentlich wenn die Majorität nur eine unbedeutende sein sollte, und dieselbe Ursache wie sie jetzt herrscht, dauert fort und wird sich im Laufe der Zeit nur noch verschärfen, denn eine Beförderung der Lage ist unter einer republikanischen Administration nicht zu denken.

Zunehmend Millionen Dollars dem industriellen Interesse des Landes entziehen und die National-Schuld um eine enorme Summe zu erhöhen, sind zwei National-Verderben.

Stimmgeber, wagt reichlich, in welche Baugleich für Eure Stimme werdet, dieselbe wiegt in jedem Jahre schwerer, als je zuvor.

MRS. BROWN CAME HOME AT ONCE.

HER HUSBAND'S MIND HAD BEEN POISONED. A "DOCTORED" LOVE LETTER. A Willy Widow Charged With Making Trouble Between Henry Brown and His Wife.

Mrs. Maggie Brown, a young and pretty woman, became involved in all kinds of trouble because of a letter addressed to her that had been intercepted and "doctored." Mrs. Brown and her husband, Henry Brown, board on Nineteenth street, near Cass avenue. Brown is a clerk in a downtown department store. They had been married nearly four years and no trouble had ever arisen to mar their happiness. Several other persons boarded at the Nineteenth street boarding-house, among them a young widow who had formed a strong antipathy for Mrs. Brown and violent admiration for Mr. Brown. The widow so concealed her real feelings that neither Mr. nor Mrs. Brown knew the real state of affairs until the developments of last week. Mrs. Brown was born and reared in a small city in the western part of the State. A little more than a week ago she went to her old home to visit relatives. It was while Mrs. Brown was on this visit that trouble arose. She had been gone but a day or two when one evening the widow tapped on Mr. Brown's door and asked to be admitted. Her manner was sympathetic, and she said she had a most disagreeable duty to perform. She declined to create a strife between man and wife, but Mr. Brown was a much wronged man, and she could not stand by and see him imposed on by a faithless wife. Brown could not understand, and he told her to explain. She took a letter from her pocket. It was addressed to Mrs. Brown, and came from her cousin out of town. It had been done by some of the other boarders who had read it and told the contents to her. The letter was signed "Your cousin and lover, James." It was too affectionate by far, and from a man the only in-

CAPT. SLATTERY'S LIFE INSURANCE.

THE HEIRS COMPELLED TO SUE SOME OF THE COMPANIES. PAYMENT HAS BEEN REFUSED. Claim Is Made That Capt. Slattery's Death by Drowning Was a Deliberate Case of Suicide. Litigation resulting from the tragic death of the late Col. D. P. Slattery is piling up in the Circuit Court. Several weeks ago Francis B. Aglar, guardian of the minor children of the deceased, filed suit against one of the companies in which the life of Col. Slattery was insured. Wednesday afternoon three additional suits were filed by Mr. Aglar. They are against the United States Casualty Co. on an accident policy for $5,000; the United Casualty and Surety Co. for $10,000; and the Fidelity and Casualty Co. of New York for $30,000. It seems the intention of the insurance companies is to contest the payment to the widow, Col. Johnson said he would have to see the letter and be given more definite information before he would act. Mrs. Brown said she would call again. She declined to give the widow's name or her own address. Illinois Central for Chicago. Buffet compartment cars. BEATEN BY FOOTPADS. Herman Broder's Rough Experience Near O'Fallon, Ill. Herman Broder, a canvasser and peddler of dry goods, living at 122 North Ninth street, was beaten and robbed by two negro highwaymen about two miles from O'Fallon, Ill., Wednesday afternoon. According to Broder's account he was walking along the road when two negroes stole up behind him and one of them beat him down with a club or cane. Then they searched him and took his money from him. They had hardly completed their work when the second negro drove along in a wagon and frightened them away. The farmer took care of the injured man, and sent him on a Thursday morning train. His head is very badly cut and wounded from the blows of his assailants and his condition is critical.

The time for paying the policies expired Oct. 1 in the case of each of the three companies. Secretary O. K. Clardy of the Union Casualty and Surety Co. stated Thursday that he knew very little about the dispute between the Slattery heirs and his company. "The policies have not been paid, and suit has been filed against us," said Mr. Clardy. "That is practically all I know about the matter. I cannot, of course, reveal our line of defense, being thoroughly exploited in the papers, and I presume those who have read the papers will draw their own conclusions as to the grounds. "These suits seem rather mysterious to me," said Mr. Hoffman of the Fidelity Company. "I have heard nothing further than that they were filed. We have not been served with copies of the petition. We always receive them through the State Insurance Department, but have not yet been served. "Another thing, the amount of the policy in our company was $20,000 and yet $2,500 is the amount asked in the suit. I have not heard of anything having been paid on the policy. "Our company and the United States and the Union companies carried the largest risks we, with a $20,000 policy, and they with $10,000 each." "None of this has been paid that I am aware of. "As for our grounds for refusing, I do not care to reveal our defense. Demand has been made for payment of the policy. No payment has been made, and that is sufficient to give the beneficiaries a cause of action, without our formally refusing to pay. However, any one who has newspaper accounts of the matter can get a pretty correct conclusion as to our reason for refusing. Lawyers Noble & Shields, who are both away from St. Louis at present, represent the Slattery heirs in the suits. You must register if you desire to cast your ballot at the November election. Registration every Presidential year is required by the laws of Missouri. This is the Presidential year. Three days have been set apart for registration—Oct. 6, Oct. 10 and Oct. 13. Registration offices open from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. If you fail to get your name on the lists on one of these days you will lose your Presidential vote. Brownlow Sexton, known as Beau Brummel in colored society, was stopped at Thirtieth and Market streets at 9 p. m. Wednesday by a negro footpad who took Sexton's coat and vest. Bill Smith, colored, was arrested at 5 a. m. Thursday at Fargue and Market streets. He was wearing Sexton's coat and vest and was identified as the highwayman.

ALABAMA'S MAJORITY.

It Will Be a Big One, Regardless of Hanna's Boodle. Frederick S. Cox, editor of the Mobile, Ala., Daily News, is in St. Louis. He is dividing his time between taking in the Fair and telling his friends about the big majority Alabama is going to roll up for Bryan. He said Thursday: "Practically we are all for Mr. Bryan down our way. There has been a strong effort to create feeling against him. The old Democrats have organized, but they are not strong. They are confined to the rural cities of the State. A good many of them will not vote at all, and a number of them will vote for Bryan, despite their ancient attitude on the money question. The object down our way is to beat McKinley, and we are going to do it with a majority of from 6,000 to 10,000. We will get a large percentage of the Populist vote. We are for Bryan and Sewall. We don't want Watson on the ticket. My opinion is that Watson will stop down before long. The Populist barrel is being circulated pretty freely down our way. We can beat them through, even if they succeed in buying 30,000 or 40,000 votes."

A POLITICAL ARGUMENT.

After It Was Ended the Surgeons Had Work to Do. Five men became interested in a political argument in Rude's saloon at Twelfth street and Washington avenue, Wednesday evening, and when the debate ended all the men were taken to the City Dispensary for treatment. Dr. Silverstone, a traveling salesman from New York, and two local salesmen, were talking in the saloon when Frank Mason and a friend of his started the talk on politics. Then the fight began and when it ended an ambulance was called. The combatants were not severely wounded, but one of them was made as the belligerents declined to prosecute. Busy Bee Biscuits. FAIR GROUNDS WILL CLOSE DOWN.
OCT. 17 WILL PROBABLY SEE THE END OF THE FALL MEETING.
MAFFITT TIRED OF THE GAME.
The President Says That It Is a Losing One—Outlawed Tracks Will Open Up.

Horse racing is not much of a game during the fall weather which usually follows the idea of October, but the Fair Grounds has done a pretty good business during the past week. Very probably the fact that the track has been run in conjunction with the Fair has helped the game not a little.

As this is usually the time of year about which the Fair Grounds thinks of closing down, many people are speculating as to how soon the big track will close its gates. The owners of the two outlawed tracks, South Side and Sportsman's Park, are eagerly awaiting cessation of racing at the Fair Grounds. They think that they can see money in an outlawed winter meeting, even if two of them are in daily operation. So the man who wants to go against the racing game, such as it is, need not worry. He will get all the action he wants during the coming winter.

The Sportsman's Park people are so eager to get their books on the little that is left of the racing pie, that they came within an ace of opening up in opposition to the Fair Grounds. They also alleged the big track managers have prevented a war. The Von der Ahe people, however, have promised that they would close up shop on October 17. This is possibly the end of the big racing institution.

President Maffitt told a Post-Dispatch reporter yesterday that the season for racing was pretty well over, and that the track might close up any time. He did not, however, name any specific date, or even approximate it.

In public utterances, however, Mr. Maffitt has stated that under no circumstances would the meeting continue after next week. He also stated that it was a losing game and that he did not propose to carry it any longer.

It is, therefore, very probable that racing at the Fair Grounds will cease on or before the 17th of October.

One point of view of the racing game must be classed as a success for the most part. Several grandly the National Derby, the track and reflect management. The judging, all track administration while the meeting was in progress, together with the good weather, the month and noble sport the level of the SOUTH BROADWAY ON ITS METTLE.

A GORGEOUS PARADE AND A BRILLIANT BALL.

ALL THE TOWN TURNED OUT.

The Annual Pageant of the Enterprising Merchants of the South Side Was a Success.

It seemed as though all of North and West St. Louis had invaded the South End Wednesday night. Before 7 o'clock an enormous crowd poured down Broadway towards Chouteau avenue, steadily increasing in numbers until the thoroughfare was almost blocked. The street cars were crowded and were impeded by swarms of vehicles. Reaching Chouteau avenue the pilgrims found greater crowds awaiting them, made up of residents of the South End, all intent upon witnessing the annual pageant of the South Broadway Merchants' Association, which was to be followed by the annual ball at the Liederkranz.

Broadway was ablaze with lights and brilliant with decorations. The pageant started shortly before 8 o'clock from Jefferson avenue and Miami street. It proceeded south on Jefferson avenue to Chouteau street, thence to Broadway and north to the junction with Thirtieth street, following Thirtieth to Pestalozzi, then back to Broadway and north to Chouteau avenue. From Broadway and Chouteau the march was to the Liederkranz.

Beside the illuminations and fixed decorations, the progress of the pageant was marked by displays of fireworks arranged by merchants along the line.

The pageant itself was a marvel of splendor. It consisted of twenty-eight floats, all of them elaborately decorated. First came the float of mounted police; next Grand Marshal Ben Westhus and his aides, L. F. Hammer, Jr., and Charles H. Thompson. They were followed by the South St. Louis Drum and Bugle Corps, preceding the first float, "Progress."

The second float represented the L. F. Hammer Store, followed by that of the L. C. Kaitwasser Carpet Co., showing an ocean vessel in Northern seas. The third was the float of J. V. Feldmann & Co., while the fourth represented a scene from "Faust," very appropriate for the Faust & Son's Oyster & Restaurant Co.

Next came Philip Burg's grocery float, and then an immense elephant occupying the float of the Apie & Heimeinmann Real Estate Agency.

The Steinmeyer Hardware Co.'s float was occupied by grotesque figures, while that of William Richter, dry goods merchant, following, represented several girls shooting the chutes. A horse race was shown on the float of the Rosch Carpet and Wall Paper Co. The first division of the pageant was completed by the handsome floats of the Thuner Reliable Furniture and Stove House and the Emil Wichter & Son Hat Co. Then came another squad of mounted police, Grand Marshal August Steinmeyer and his aides, Erwin J. Koehner, and E. H. Frielingendorf, and the float of M. Gostler & Co. The other floats in this division were those of the Salomo & Bleidemann Hardware Co., the Athletic Tea Co., Bolman Bros., Ed A. Rollman, Notary Public; an additional float of the Steinmeyer Hardware Co., Wm. F. Bolte, shoe dealer; T. H. White, plate roofer; Lager Bros., merchant; J. H. Hammer, photographer; Wm. Buehler Cooperator; Otto Hammermeister, roofer; all the floats opportunities for advertisements were sacrificed to artistic effect. It was about 11 o'clock when the floats discharged its passengers. The ball began at 11:30 and continued until 2:30 a.m.

You must register if you desire to cast your ballot at the November election. Registration every Presidential year is required by the laws of Missouri. This is the Presidential year. These days have been set apart for registration—Oct. 10 and Oct. 13. Registration closes open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. If you fail to get your name on the lists on one of these days you will lose your Presidential vote.

TENNESSEE VISITORS.

Three Hundred of Them Came to the St. Louis Ex. and Fair.

Three hundred Tennesseans arrived in St. Louis Thursday morning by special train to visit the Exposition. They came by invitation of the management of the Exposition, and during their stay here will be the guests of the Tennessee Society of this city.

The real purpose of the visit is the explosion of the Tennessee Centennial Exposition, which is to open in May, 1897. The others are at the Fair Grounds today, and will visit the Exposition in a body to-night with a view to gathering ideas for their display, and to interest Missourians in making exhibits for Nashville.

Among the visitors is Herman Juste of Nashville, chief of the Bureau of Promotion and Publicity. He is very enthusiastic over its prospects.

"The Exposition," he said, "will be given in celebration of Tennessee's admission into the Union. It will be on a grand scale. Over $1,000,000 has already been expended in putting up the buildings and preparing the 50-acre park in which they stand. One of the most striking features will be a fire proof reproduction of the Greek Parthenon.

"The purpose of the Exposition is not to make money. It is to advertise the great resources of the State and assist in its development."

The Exposition will last from May until November.

The visitors will return Friday night. Health is better than wealth. Therefore, drink Buerweiser beer. On tap at 415 North Sixth street.

Professor Munyon and his staff of specialists have certainly met with a warm welcome in St. Louis. The crowds that found their way to the office of the St. Louis Republic yesterday show the great popularity of the professor and the unbounded faith they have in his remedies. Scores of people came to testify to having been cured, while others came out on recommendation of some friend who had been cured by Munyon's little sugar pellets. All seemed to have faith that they would be restored to health.

Certainly the professor's liberal offer to furnish his physicians absolutely free to the public and his refusal to take money for his services must inspire confidence and give new hope into the minds of the sick.

In an interview yesterday the professor said: "It is my purpose to give the citizens of St. Louis the benefit of the advice of physicians absolutely free, each and all to take in many instances been taking the incorrect diagnosis."

SEVERED BY DELLA SAUNDERS.

WM. S. THOMPSON IS SUED BY HIS WIFE FOR DIVORCE.

HE HAS BEEN A VERY GAY BOY.

The Wife Accuses Him of Neglecting Her for Other Women Who Are in Low Life.

Madge A. Thompson, nee Arndt, has filed suit for divorce against her husband, William S. Thompson, son of Wm. H. Thompson, President of the National Bank of Commerce.

"She alleges improper relations on his part with a woman named Della Saunders and several other women of her class."

The suit is the unhappy wind-up of a decade of marital life, 8 years of which have been passed in unhappiness and estrangement.

On July 7, 1888, young Thompson married Madge, a daughter of Joseph A. Arndt. She was a South Side belle unknown to the set in which Thompson moved. Still they lived happily together for two years.

Then Thompson, according to his wife's allegations, began spending his evenings away from home.

His charges that his prolonged absences were due to his association with Della Saunders, a woman of whom she knows nothing except that she stole her husband's love.

There were other women in the case, too, according to plaintiff's petition. She declares that she knows neither the names or addresses of his companions or the dates of his guilty offenses.

There had been reconciliations during these eight years of unhappiness, for the fruit of their union is a child, Madge Elizabeth Thompson, who was 5 years old in April last.

Mrs. Thompson states in her petition that her husband is well to do and amply able to provide for her and his child. She asks that he be made to pay alimony pending suit. She asks that the court allow her a sufficient allowance to educate and care for her child and support herself becomingly.

William S. Thompson is the eldest son of the President of the National Bank of Commerce and one of the richest men in St. Louis.

He is not engaged in active business, but spends his time about his father's bank. Edward C. Keller, of the firm of Keller & Wittmann, said he knew nothing touching

MARTIN WIFE HOW SHE PLAYED DETECTIVE.

Found Out All About Her Husband and Della Bangs and Then Forgave Him.

A man with one arm and a matronly looking woman walked down the steps of the hearing house at 1420 Washington avenue about 7:30 o'clock Thursday morning. They took a Washington avenue red line car which passes the Union Station, presumably with the intention of leaving town. The couple were Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hart of Louisiana, Mo. Their departure at that hour from the Washington avenue house was the result of uncommonly shrewd detective work on the part of the wife and an ability to track the face off a clock on the part of the husband. Pretty much any man of a man can put up some sort of a "spiel" when his wife gets on his trail, but Mayor Hart of Louisiana must be what is sometimes called a bird to have talked his way out of the scrape he got into.

Hart is neither a spring chicken nor a small potato. He is about 50 years of age and is the Mayor of Pike County county seat. He is very tall, dark, and confides with some pride that the present Mrs. Hart is the third to have secured that title from him.

But Mayor Hart, despite his years and his position, seems to have been untrue to his marital vows. Mrs. Hart is stated on this fact yesterday, and she dug up some of the most interesting evidence that it must have required a lot of detective work to get the Louisiana to rehabilitate himself in her good graces.

So convinced was Mrs. Hart of her husband's perfidy that she even went to the four courts to get him arrested, but this was before the Mayor had a chance to talk to her.

The couple arrived here Wednesday morning and took a room at the Washington avenue house, which is run by Mrs. S. McIntosh. Their ostensible purpose was to visit St. Louis to see the great Fair, but Mrs. Hart had another end in view, which she kept carefully concealed from her husband.

Some time ago she discovered in her husband's pockets two letters signed "Della Bangs." They were not in the least platonic and Mrs. Hart flew into a fit of jealousy. She taxed her liege lord with infidelity and she declares he admitted his sin, but promised never again to fall from grace.

Woman-like, Mrs. Hart forgave, but she came a mighty long way from forgetting. She got it into her head that her husband was keeping up his monkey shins and she couldn't get it out.

When she asked him why he had to come to St. Louis so often he gave her that white-haired old gas about traveling and seemed much hurt that she did not put implicit trust in his veracity.

Sometimes Mrs. Hart kept right on watching, and she made up her mind to get to the bottom of the mystery, if it cost her life. This trip to St. Louis, she thought, would be the very time, so she came along to the Fair with the best of grace.

A heady afternoon her husband told her that he was going to the races. He added, for to tell the truth, he was, and she being very wise, chimed in with his plans.

After he was gone she made up her mind that he was off for a lark with Miss Della Bangs and she started out to catch him and hand him.

The first place she tackled was the Hotel Olivette, at 1900 Olive street. She learned much here to the hotel, but she didn't find Mrs. Bangs there. She then went to the Flors Tressner, the landlady, and her sister, Mrs. Meyers, and they told her they were having a party at the hotel.

She then went to the hotel where she had heard that the "wife" had lived there with her husband for several months. To complete the investigation, she went to the hotel where she had heard that the "wife" had lived there with her husband for several months.

GOSPEL OF HEALTH Glad Tidings Proclaimed by Thankful Ministers.

Hope for Weak and Debilitated People.
How Health and Strength May Be Readily Obtained.

There are no words so strong as these spoken by the true minister of the Gospel. One knows and feels, instinctively, that such words come from the earnest purpose of doing good to humanity. These great preachers thus proclaim a new Gospel of Health to the sick and discouraged, which means renewed health, hope, happiness.

Rev. F. H. Buffum of Winchester, N. H., who is Grand Army Chaplain for the State of New Hampshire, says: "The remedial effect of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy on my wife was so positive and speedy that we can heartily testify to its undoubted merits."

Rev. G. L. Wells of Hardwick, Vt., writes: "I have used Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy with most excellent results. It did great good for my wife. We think highly of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and cordially recommend it."

Rev. D. R. Meacham, pastor Baptist Church, Townsend, Vt., states: "I am very glad to say in regard to Dr. Greene's great remedy, that when my wife was badly impoverished and my nervous system greatly impaired, Dr. Greene's medicine gave me wonderful relief."

Rev. Henry Langford of Weston, Vt., Va., says: "I took Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and am wonderfully improved in health and strength. I can heartily and truthfully recommend it to the sick."

Clergymen strongly recommend the people to use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, because they know it cures, and because it is a physician's prescription, the discovery of the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene of 35 West 14th St., New York City, who can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

TOBE MITCHELL'S CASE.
Evidence of "Gratification" Heard by the Mayor.

Mayor Walbridge sat as a court of inquiry upon Gratification Tobe Mitchell Wednesday afternoon in the Mayor's office and the evidence, which was printed in the last edition of the Post-Dispatch, showed that the accounts of his operations have not been overdrawn.

The case was not concluded at the first meeting, as two witnesses, who are considered necessary, were not present. One of these was James Peters, a plumber, and the other, Charles O'Brien, who tried to secure the advertisement of the Western Plumber.

The inquiry opened by Mitchell entering a general denial of the charges preferred. His side of the case was conducted by Chester H. Krum, City Counselor Marshall was the prosecuting attorney.

Health Commissioner Starkloff was the first witness examined. He told how he had suspended Mitchell upon hearing who he was, and how he had afterwards preferred charges, when he found he had no authority to suspend or discharge his secretary.

The clerk of Justice Haughton's court presented the papers in the suit of Mitchell against Jackson for $100 commissions. The case was set for trial on Monday, and Mitchell $50, at his request, and then prepared to fight when Mitchell sued for $100 more.

Clyde Wise, the messenger of the Health Department office, testified that he had carried a note to Jackson from Mitchell and was given a check to deliver to Mitchell. The check for $50 was filed as evidence.

Pro-President Belden of the Western Plumber Co. testified that he had made a contract with a representative of Mitchell to do work of advertising on condition he got a $500 after contract.

Dr. Starkloff was recalled and said he had seen the contract in Mitchell's possession, but that it was not signed by Mitchell. The hearing adjourned until 1 o'clock Monday.

REV. G. L. WELLS.

Academy of Music Narrowly Escaped Destruction.
A fire at 9:30 Thursday morning in the Academy of Music building on the public square at Belleville, threatened for a time to destroy the large building. It started in a lumber room under the stairway on the second floor and had gained considerable headway before being discovered.

Joe McDermott, a crackling noise and burning which ignited the combustible material lying about. Half an hour later Dr. McDermott entered the building and the door into the closet. Flames and smoke belched out and he ran across the street to the Police Station and turned in an alarm.

By half past six the department soon had the flames under control. The loss to the building, which is owned by B. J. West, is about $50, covered by insurance. The damage to the furniture and books of Attorneys Webb & Webb is about an equal amount and also covered by insurance. The office furniture of Attorneys Hamill & Borders was damaged slightly by water and the ceiling of the post office on the first floor was ruined.

THE GLOVER ESTATE.
John M. Glover Wants a Receiver to Take Charge.

Ex-Congressman John M. Glover filed petition Thursday for the appointment of a receiver for the estate of the late Samuel T. Glover, his father, and an adjustment of the dispute between himself and the other heirs.

A judgment for $38,993 was secured against Glover by the other heirs. He claims in his petition that he has advanced over $25,000 to the estate, of which he was administrator, and asks that this be deducted from the amount of the judgment.

Mr. Glover was administrator of the partnership of Glover, Glover & Co., a partnership having died. He was removed as administrator while he was in Congress, and succeeded by the United Trust Company. His petition is highly sensational in the language used to charge the other heirs and their attorneys.

The lawsuit was filed in the United Trust Company, Mildred A. Glover, Fanny G. Way, Mildred B. Kern, Joseph A. Glover, R. Griffin Glover and James L. Glover.

BISHOP KEANE'S REMOVAL.
It Is Taken to Mean a Setback for Archbishop Ireland.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The deposition of Bishop Keane from the rectorship of the Catholic University at Washington, which was announced immediately after the arrival of Mr. Martinelli, the new papal delegate, has been regarded as the first sign of a movement that is to shake the entire American Catholic hierarchy.

There has been friction between the ultramontanists and liberal factions ever since Archbishop Ireland took his memorable stand on the American school question. A prominent layman of New York, whose influence in the history of the church since Archbishop Ireland appealed to Rome to sustain him as against the clerical faction, especially against the Archbishop of New York, in the famous school question.

BIG THURSDAY

THE FAIR.

GREATEST CROWD OF THE WEEK
SEEING THE SHOW.
A HOLIDAY IN THE CITY.
Thousands of Out-of-Town People
Came to Help the City Folk
Enjoy the Day.

St. Louis is thronged with visitors from out of town.
Every train Thursday morning brought in hundreds of people from all over the Mississippi Valley.
The attraction is the same that has acted as a lodestone to draw thousands to St. Louis every year since the opening of the Fair.

Thursday of fair week has come to be known as big Thursday all over the South and West and people in the towns, villages and rural districts tributary to St. Louis are here helping to maintain the reputation of the day.
Everything conspires to make this one of the biggest big Thursdays in the annals of the fair.

The weather is as fine as it could be made to order. It is just cool enough to make a tour of the big grounds a pleasure. There is bright sunlight to tan the atmosphere and show up the exhibits in the most attractive manner possible.

The managers and exhibitors have made every effort to make the features of the day interesting and attractive.
The heads of the different departments made the rounds of the grounds late Wednesday afternoon, rearranging the displays so as to have them in good shape for the big day of the week.

The result of the general rearrangement of the exhibits was pleasantly apparent Thursday morning.
The crowd that waited for the gates to open was large enough to be highly gratifying to the management and to give evidence that the day was to be a big Thursday in reality as well as in name.

Thousands of out-of-town visitors who had come in on the morning trains filed into the grounds.
The streets were a steady one.

Visitors scattered about the big grounds within an hour after the gates opened. The fair was in full swing and the crowds of thousands of people were in the city as well as in the grounds.
